

THE HURTLE

HATHERSAGE

On 18 May 2019 I will be taking part in the Hathersage Hurtle, a trail race through the most stunning Peak District countryside.

But it's not all about pretty views ... it's 20 miles of challenging moorland terrain with over 2,800 feet of elevation, and requires strength and grit and sheer determination to complete.

The route takes in the expanses of Eyam Moor and Shatton Moor, before heading along the Thornhill Trail. Then it's up, up, up - over the iconic heights of Stanage and Burbage, through Longshaw and Padley Gorge, before returning to Hathersage, hopefully all in one piece.

Please help to motivate me along the miles by pledging money for my chosen cause!
